GREAT MEETING OF YOUNG CHRISTIANS IN WASHINGTON

Sunday School Convention in Washington Backed by Big Men.

Washington, D. C., May 19.—From nearly every country on the face of the globe, men and women are crowding into Washington to attend the World's Sixth Sunday School convention. Between 2000 and 3000 delegates are present. An attempt has been made to insure this assembly being the greatest gathering for christianizing the world that ever was held.

For a week the convention will be the center of interest in the city, possibly overshadowing the congress of the United States. Official duties will be laid aside in honor of the occasion. President Taft will deliver the principal address at the great welcome service; a member of the supreme court, Justice Harlan, is at the head of a list of distinguished men who assisted the local committee in arranging for the convention; while among his associates are secretary Wilson, secretary Nagle, and secretary Meyer from the cabinet; senators Beveridge, Dooliver and Overman, and representatives Payne, Folger, Nelson, Lloyd, Candler and Cassidy, from congress.

Probably the most spectacular meeting of the week will be a prize service on the east steps of the capitol, on the spot where presidents receive the oath of office, and where the hymns may be heard by the lawmakers and the law interpreters in the capitol.

To Dr. E. B. Meyer, of England, president of the World's Sunday School association, fell the privilege of calling the convention to order this afternoon. The thousands of delegates and other Sunday school workers cannot be gathered in one building in Washington, and hence twin services will be held probably through the entire convention week. The object of the convention is rather inspirational than instructive in method. In line with this object, the most famous speakers obtainable have promised to address the various meetings.

The men are not to monopolize the enthusiasm. The Woman's Foreign Missionary movement will be given a prominent place on the program. On Friday evening four simultaneous sessions will be held to consider this subject. Mrs. James S. Sherman, wife of vice president Sherman, will preside over one of these.

On Sunday the Sunday schools of the city will be visited by the delegates of the convention and on Monday, reports on the work will be submitted to a committee.

ARIZONIAN SPEAKS AT NOON LUNCHEON

J. R. Hampton, of Clifton, Tells of Educational Bill. Stevens Speaks.

J. R. Hampton, of Clifton, Ariz., a member of the Arizona territorial council and author of the famous educational bill, was the speaker of the day at the business men's luncheon, at the chamber of commerce Thursday noon. He complimented El Paso citizens on the growth of the city in the past few years, and on the number of skyscrapers, and said that even more noticeable than these improvements, was the street paving and the street railway system.

In referring to his educational bill for Arizona, which is now before the United States congress, and on which hinges the admission of Arizona to statehood, Mr. Hampton said:

"The bill, which was passed at the last session of the Arizona legislature, has for its purpose the purification of politics. It requires that all voters be able to read, write and speak the English language. It is not so much to keep the ignorant class from voting as to put the ignorant voters at the mercy of the voters who are able to read, write and speak the English language. It is a recognized fact that many of the ignorant voters can be bought, and the votes of some of the educated citizens may also be purchased, yet the percentage is not large."

"While we have not had a general election since the passage of the bill, I firmly believe that it will have the desired effect in purifying Arizona politics."

Horace R. Stevens, in referring to insurance, said that El Paso is now operating under a new law and in a year or so the rates will be readjusted and he reduced. He also said that Texas stands at the top of the list of southern states in the matter of fire losses and the purpose of the law is merely to equalize conditions.

RIO GRANDE BREAKS BANKS NEAR FIVEMILE BRIDGE

Water Overflows Valley Farm of Sam Brano; County Engineer Meadows Repairing Break.

Reports to the reclamation service from Engle, Thursday afternoon, state that the Rio Grande at that point has risen three inches in the last 24 hours, and that it is within seven-tenths of a foot of the high water mark at that point of the spring freshet.

The river at El Paso is 14.7, two-tenths of a foot higher.

A break in the bank of the Rio Grande at a point near the five-mile bridge was reported Thursday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. The water is reported to be overflowing on the land of Sam Brano, a valley farmer. The county engineer's office was immediately notified when the break was discovered and engineer Meadows went to the scene. The water going out of the break was found to be slight but the possibilities of damage are serious. The engineer set a force of men at work on the break and it is thought that it can be repaired before any great amount of damage is done.

FALSE BOTTOM IN TRUNK; SILKS ARE FOUND

Customs Officials Make a
Discovery During an Examination.

Obedient a second impulse to investigate further the trunk of Jose Lena, the Mexican youth who was arrested several days ago on the charge of smuggling $125 worth of blankets and drawn work into the United States, customs officials found in a false bottom of the trunk probably $500 worth of embroidery work, silks, drawn work, etc.

The incident occurred just after the case against him had been called before commissioner George Oliver Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The youth had waived examination and the matter of the size of the bond was being discussed when it was suggested by a customs officer that the trunk be looked into further. With a screw driver, a false bottom was taken from the trunk and there was revealed an apartment from four to five inches in depth, packed with precious stuffs, consisting of beautiful drawn work, silks, etc., worth at least $500 gold.

Lena looked on unperturbed as the discovery was being made. The youth, who stated that he was on his way to Dubuque, Iowa, to enter a college there when arrested, appears to be yet in his teens and is said to be rather unsophisticated and for this reason the customs officials believe that there are persons "higher up" who planned the whole thing and the matter will be investigated further. The false bottom was very cleverly made and was evidently constructed by one not new to the business.

The matter of fixing a bond was held up pending the appraisement of the smuggled goods, though it will be raised over the former bond of $200.

RAILROAD NEWS.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS HAS SERIOUS WRECK

17 Freight Cars Leave Track
South of Juarez—No Fatalities.

The train of the National Railways of Mexico, due at the union station, El Paso, Thursday morning at 7:25 o'clock, was delayed in arriving till 2:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon on account of the derailment of 17 freight cars about 15 miles out of Juarez. The passengers on the incoming passenger train were transferred at the scene of the wreck and brought to the city.

The cause of the derailment is thought to have been defective ties. The 17 cars went off the track and piled up their length along the right-of-way. One car, loaded with ore, overturned and a large part of the ore burst out through the top of the car. The cars derailed were in about the center of the train. The engine, caboose and a few cars remained on the track. The track was torn away. No one was fatally injured.

HOMELESS YOUNGSTER COMES FROM 'FRISCO

Has Been Hunting for Lost
Uncle—Is Now Looking For Work.

Homeless, fatherless, friendless and homeless and having but 10 cents, is the plight of George Thompson, 14 years of age, who arrived in El Paso Thursday morning in a freight car from San Francisco, returning from a futile search for an uncle, C. Thompson, who is his only relative in the United States.

The boy is a manly little fellow and began looking for work when he swung from the empty freight car. His father died a few months ago, and his mother having died also, he was left alone in the world. He has relatives in Ireland, he says, but he knows nothing of them.

He heard his father say before he died that he had a brother living in San Francisco, and I went there to locate him, but I could not find his name in the directory so I came back," said the youth, who is long-toussered before his time.

He will go to Houston, where his father lived, unless he finds work here.
